

COMPANY QUALITY POLICY

As a Service Company in an industry requiring the highest standard of “ delivery “ in the interests of pursuing safety benefits , COLOURGRIP SURFACING LTD. continually strives to deliver the very best international quality solutions to its New Zealand customers.

We believe QUALITY is a vital function of Performance and Value, which are both fully measurable. To translate this into “deliverables” our Company firstly ensures that our material components are only secured from the very best international manufacturers / fabricators. Our suppliers all have to demonstrate strict quality procedures such as ISO 9001, high performance testing regimes and sampling techniques in order to deliver risk-free product.

Secondly, in terms of Performance we ensure that the component selections; the laying process and the performance criteria for the laid product are all to the highest internationally available standard. These elements are all statistically quantified on the Technical Data Sheets, International Certification and Installation Method Statement which forms an integral part of every Customer Proposal.

We guarantee performance and compliance to current stringent specifications for effective skid resistance as well as confirming the life expectancy of the installation under the advised working disciplines and routines of the customer. From this analysis we can then calculate and then confirm the cost efficiency of the customer’s investment. We call this the VALUE QUOTIENT and it is discussed with the customer prior to confirmation of the order.

Company staff are required to comply with all our internal quality procedures and associated systems and are responsible for their own individual work contribution. We use these imperatives to drive the overall quality objectives within the Company.
